SCIE safeguarding: getting ahead with tailored safeguarding solutions

SCIE partners with organisations to anticipate and manage safeguarding risks, with expert-led insights, tailored training and co-produced solutions built around your people and pressures.

As SCIE is not-for-profit, our safeguarding consultancy and training services offer exceptional value for money, and our income goes towards improving social care, reinvesting funds into further research and advocacy work.

About our team

Our safeguarding team brings a rich breadth and depth of experience, drawing on a combined 150 years of experience spanning safeguarding statutory and third sectors, as well as strategic and operational levels. We have successfully delivered several hundred projects over the last three years, supporting organisations from Government departments through councils and health providers to small local care and support providers, across every sector from local authorities to small voluntary organisations and every area of the UK on their safeguarding journey. Our work may be as simple as a short policy review, training to support practice through to an organisational audit of large federated national organisations or undertaking an investigation of historic allegation.

How we work with you

Our safeguarding support is bespoke to you and your organisation – we take the time to understand the unique challenges and considerations you face. Our work is always evidence-based, using the latest and most rigorous insights about what constitutes best practice.

> I just wanted to express my sincere thanks and appreciation for the hard work and dedication [SCIE staff] have shown in the development and delivery of what I can only say has been an excellent pilot for the Independent Reviewer Training. The structure and content have been informative and provided a depth and breadth of information that will support all of our journeys in future work."
