ISTAC

INTENSIVE SYSTEMIC THERAPY
AROUND THE CHILD

The cost-effective, evidence-based approach to keeping children at home, thriving.

THE PROBLEM

An increasing number of children are being placed in out-of-home placements - care, custody and CAMHS inpatient units, unnecessarily.

> 82,000
children in care predicted to rise to 100,000 by 2030

> 3,500
admitted to CAMHS units
each year

> 450
in custody at any one time

3 KEY PROBLEMS

1

Huge cost to society:
Across Social Care,
Health & Education

2

Poor outcomes for children (and families)

3

Out-of-home placements fail to address the underlying issues: problems re-emerge and children return to care/inpatient

1. COST TO SOCIETY

Up to £288k

per child per year

6k per week for a teenager in care

Spending on children in care could make up 60% of childrens services budgets by 2025

£800 per day for a child in an inpatient unit

Total cost:

£23 billion per year

2. POOR

OUTCOMES

Care leavers:

- 6 x more likely to go to prison & 4 x more likely to end up with a criminal conviction
- 1 in 3 not in education, employment, or training
- Poorer physical and mental health

Research has indicated the negative impact of inpatient admission, highlighting:

- Adverse effects within the inpatient environment
- Disruption of relationships, education and sense of self
- Effects on family life
- Difficulty readjusting to 'normal' life after discharge

3. OUT-OF-HOME
PLACEMENTS
DON'T ADDRESS
THE FACTORS THAT HAVE LED TO A CHILD BEING ACCOMMODATED OR ADMITTED

IF a child returns home at all, the problems are likely to re-emerge

Nearly 30% of children are readmitted to CAMHS inpatient units following discharge

> 40% return to foster care having returned home unsuccessfully

IT'S TIME FOR CHANGE

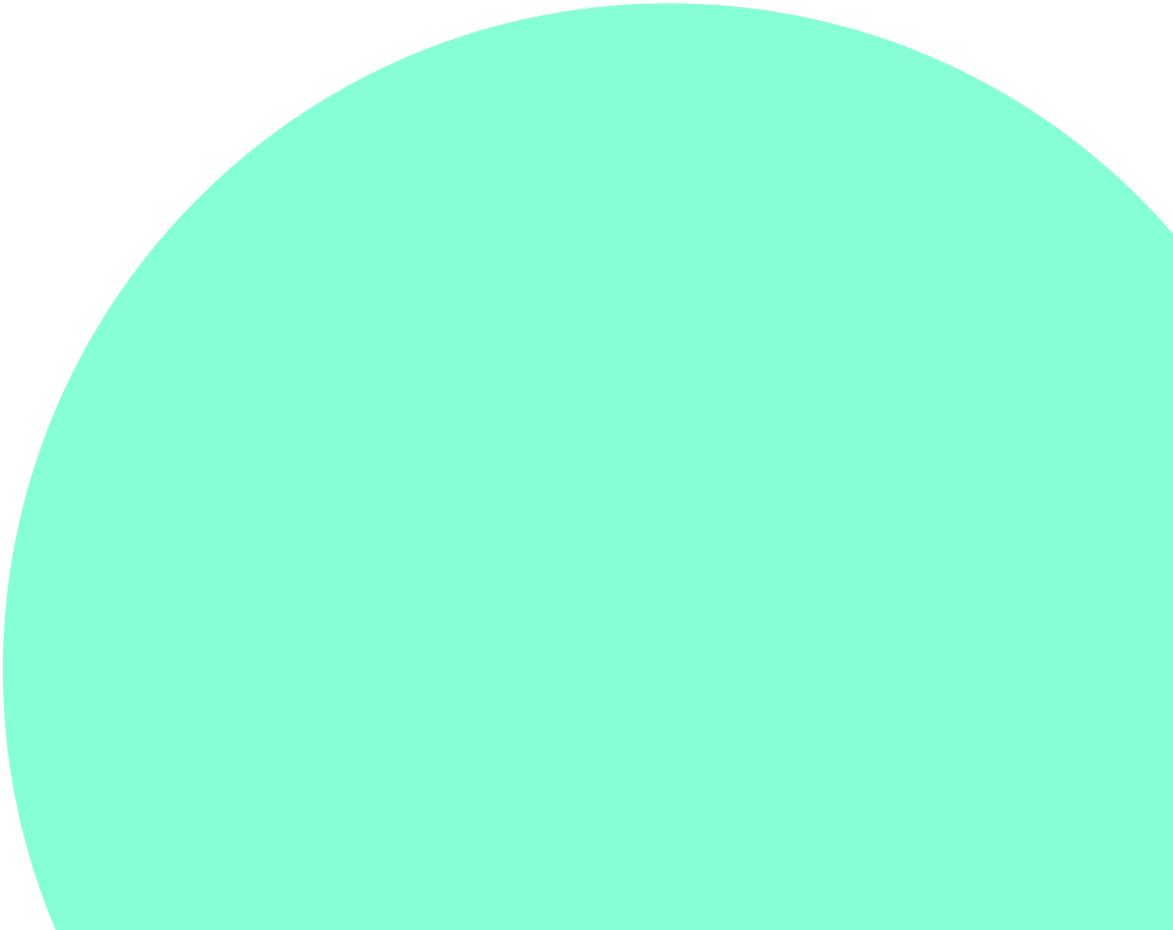

The children's social care reform, May 2023:
'Stable homes built on love'

Family support and clinical guidance at the right time so that children can thrive at home

Unlocking the potential of family networks

Supporting parents, protecting children & keeping costs down

"Our ambition is that every child and family who needs it will have access to high-quality help, no matter where they live. Family Help will provide intensive multidisciplinary support, with social workers and other practitioners working together. It will work with families facing significant challenges that make it harder to provide their children with a loving, stable or safe family life that meets their needs. It will be based within and tailored towards their local communities."

There is a solution, and it works ...

The graphic features the acronym 'ISTAC' in a large, dark blue, serif font. It is centered over a bright orange-red circle. Surrounding this circle are several hands of different skin tones, reaching up from the bottom and sides, as if holding or supporting the circle. Below the circle, a single incandescent light bulb is shown, hanging from the top of the frame. The background is a soft, warm yellow gradient.

ISTAC

INTENSIVE SYSTEMIC THERAPY
AROUND THE CHILD

- Cost-effective, evidence-based alternative to out-of-home placement:
Approx. £45k for ISTAC vs. £288k for care/inpatient
- Immediate benefits & positive, sustainable outcomes for children and families
- Addresses the multiple & complex contributing factors to the problems

WHAT IS ISTAC?

Intensive,
community-based, therapeutic intervention, creating loving,
stable, and safe families where children can thrive.

Devised in 2017 by the Youth Untroubled team, it's an adaptation of MST, developed to better meet the needs of children & families with complex/multiple problems.

The model has been commissioned by local authorities and mental health trusts across London, and by F-CAMHS.

ORIGINAL MODEL & ADAPTATIONS

ISTAC

Preventing out-of-home placement for children with severe anti-social behaviour, chronic conduct disorders and complex emotional and behavioural difficulties including harmful sexual behaviour.

ISTAC TRANSITIONS

Supporting children in foster care/residential provisions, secure provisions and CAMHS inpatient units to return to their families, quickly and safely.

ISTAC FOR SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES (SAC)

A 4-month brief adaptation of the ISTAC model for young people with EHCPs where emotional based school avoidance is a primary issue.

ISTAC

IS THE COST-EFFECTIVE, COMMUNITY-BASED TREATMENT PROGRAMME THAT IS ...

Preventing children and young people being placed in care

Reducing inappropriate and unnecessary CAMHS inpatient admissions and shortening the length of admissions

Reducing crime and anti-social behaviour

Improving educational attainment and reducing truancy, preventing permanent school exclusion

Supporting children to return to family homes from alternative placements, and remain at home, thriving.

24/7 flexible support for each family and network

We identify and tackle the issues that have led to children being at risk of out-of-home placement

We directly address ALL parenting difficulties including mental health, substance misuse, domestic violence, and trauma

We unlock the potential of wider family networks and identify and develop family strengths

We work ALONGSIDE other professionals

We provide direct intervention to children where clinically indicated - a child's willingness to engage does not determine treatment suitability

Minimal exclusion criteria - inclusive of neurodivergency

ISTAC

OUTCOMES 2020 - 2022*

- 89% of young people in education by the end of treatment
- 95% of young people had committed no further offences by the end of treatment
- 91% of young people were living at home at the end of treatment

ALL of these outcomes were sustained at 6-month follow-up.

*Stats from BC-SIT, 2020-2022

" I have worked alongside Youth Untroubled colleagues for years. I have little doubt that the [ISTAC] model is a highly effective way to support those families with children on the edge of care. It often helps divert from unnecessary mental health admissions too. The therapists are highly skilled at empowering parents to offer their children the best of themselves, often when others might have given up on them. Their outcomes speak for themselves. [ISTAC] is the stuff!"

Consultant Psychiatrist, ELFT

OUTCOMES CONT.

Youth Endowment Fund study, 2023

“The [ISTAC] approach is seen as better than any other intervention they had experienced.”

PARENTS' FEEDBACK

1. Flexible, intensive support, where and when they needed it.
2. Treatment focused on the key issues - those they actually needed help with.
3. Non-judgemental approach - didn't feel labelled as “bad parents”.
4. Helped them to engage better with other services too.

FOR PROFESSIONALS

- Training
- Consultation

“Brilliant, strength-focused advice - I came away from the consultation feeling motivated and clear about the next steps with the family. And it worked!”

Social Worker, Hackney

FOR PARENTS

- Workshops & short courses
- 1-1 parenting consultations & sessions

"Thank you for such a supportive session and for all the guidance! I have found it really useful as I didn't know anything about behavioural strategies and how to handle tantrums and meltdowns. We are seeing differences in behaviour already!"

ONLINE INFORMATION HUB

providing advice and information for everyone involved in caring for children

MISSION STATEMENT

Youth Untroubled was set up to facilitate a National roll-out of the ISTAC model, across Health, Education and Social Care. Our goal is for all children on the edge of care — or placed unnecessarily in out-of-home settings — to access our effective, intensive, community-based therapeutic intervention that actually works.

As well as providing information about ISTAC, ISTAC Transitions and ISTAC SAC, we intend for istac.co.uk to be a hub of expert advice for professionals working with children and families with a range of complex needs. We intend for our sister site, youthuntroubled.co.uk, to become THE place for parenting advice and support - from early intervention to the most complex of situations.

We believe it's time to give ALL families the skills and opportunity to create loving, stable, and safe environments where children can thrive.

INNOVATIVE INTERVENTIONS. INSPIRING HOPE. TRANSFORMING LIVES.
